CHINA'S POLICIES ON ITS BORDERLANDS AND THE INTERNATIONAL IMPLICATIONS

CHINA'S POLICIES ON ITS BORDERLANDS AND THE INTERNATIONAL IMPLICATIONS

Edited by

Yufan Hao
Bill K P Chou

University of Macau, China

World Scientific

NEW JERSEY • LONDON • SINGAPORE • BEIJING • SHANGHAI • HONG KONG • TAIPEI • CHENNAI

Published by

World Scientific Publishing Co. Pte. Ltd.

5 Toh Tuck Link, Singapore 596224

USA office: 27 Warren Street, Suite 401-402, Hackensack, NJ 07601

UK office: 57 Shelton Street, Covent Garden, London WC2H 9HE

British Library Cataloguing-in-Publication Data

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

CHINA'S POLICIES ON ITS BORDERLANDS AND THE INTERNATIONAL IMPLICATIONS

Copyright © 2011 by World Scientific Publishing Co. Pte. Ltd.

All rights reserved. This book, or parts thereof, may not be reproduced in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, recording or any information storage and retrieval system now known or to be invented, without written permission from the Publisher.

For photocopying of material in this volume, please pay a copying fee through the Copyright Clearance Center, Inc., 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, USA. In this case permission to photocopy is not required from the publisher.

ISBN-13 978-981-4287-66-1

ISBN-10 981-4287-66-0

Typeset by Stallion Press

Email: enquiries@stallionpress.com

Printed in Singapore.

This page is intentionally left blank

Acknowledgements

We would like to express our gratitude to the University of Macau for funding the conference, “China’s Policies towards Its Borderlands and Their International Implications,” held on 11–12 March, 2010. The conference allowed us to invite many scholars, with profound knowledge on the theme of this book, from the United States, Australia, Germany, Canada, France, Singapore and China. We would also like to extend our thanks to their contribution to paper presentation and revision as well as the lively debates. Finally, we would like to thank Ms. Miranda Lei, Ms. Yuting Wang, Ms. Kathy Chen, Ms. Jianping Zong, Ms. Xiaojie Wang, and Ms. Lanyan Xia for their administrative and editorial assistance.

Yufan Hao
Bill K.P. Chou
*Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities
University of Macau
20 May 2010*

This page is intentionally left blank

Contents

Acknowledgements	v
List of Editors and Contributors	ix
Chapter 1. China's Borderlands and Their International Implications: An Overview	1
Yufan Hao and Bill K.P. Chou
Chapter 2. The Disturbances in the Tibetan Areas and Ürümqi 2008–2009: Implications for China's International Relations	19
Colin Mackerras
Chapter 3. Peaceful Rise from the Border: Chinese Practice of Diplomatic Leadership in the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation	47
Weiying Song

Chapter 4.	China and Its Central Asian Neighbour	69
	Gudrun Wacker
Chapter 5.	Facing Russia and Outer Mongolia: Border City Hulunbeier in the 1960s and the 2000s	93
	TJ Cheng
Chapter 6.	Prelude to the Diaoyutai Dispute: Chinese–Japanese Controversy Over the Liuqiu Islands as Seen from an International System-Change Perspective	117
	Edwin Pak-wah Leung
Chapter 7.	China's Northeast Water Frontiers, East China Sea Disputes and Co-Management Approach	137
	Quansheng Zhao
Chapter 8.	The Evolution of Beijing's Military Strategy Toward Taiwan	163
	You Ji
Chapter 9.	Theorizing Language Rationalisation in Greater China: Political Transition, Self-Governance and Language Outcomes in Post-Handover Hong Kong	199
	Jean-François Dupré

Chapter 10.	Local Autonomy Matters: One-Country Two-System Policy in Macao and Its Implications for China's Policies on Its Borderlands	225
	Bill K.P. Chou
Chapter 11.	China's Myanmar Policy: Challenges and Adjustments	253
	Hong Zhao
	Index	275

This page is intentionally left blank

List of Editors and Contributors

EDITORS

HAO Yufan is a Professor of Political Sciences and Dean of Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities at the University of Macau. He obtained his MA and PhD from the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies in 1984 and 1989 respectively and was a McArthur Fellow at Harvard University Center for International Affairs from 1988–1989. He was Robert Ho Professor of Chinese Studies at Colgate University and visiting professor to Beijing University (1999–2000), Tsinghua University (2003), Renmin University of China (2003) and is currently a jianzhi professor at Fudan University, Shanghai University of International Studies and Chinese Foreign Affairs University (Beijing). He has published widely on Chinese politics, Chinese foreign relations, and US–China relations in journals such as Asian Survey, Asian Perspective, Journal of Democracy, Journal of Contemporary China, the China Quarterly, Issues and Studies, Journal of Northeast Asian Studies, Korea and the World, Chinese Social Science Quarterly, etc. His latest books include Challenges to Chinese Foreign Policy: Diplomacy, Globalization and the Next World Power (University Press of Kentucky, 2009); Chinese Foreign Policy Making: Societal Forces in Chinese American Policy

Making, (Ashgate, London, co-edited, 2005). He is a regular contributor to China Newsweek and Global Times in China, and is chief editor of the Series of "Focusing Sino-American Relations" under the auspices of the Xinhua Press in Beijing.

Bill K.P. CHOU is an Assistant Professor of Department of Government and Public Administration, University of Macau. He earned his BA and MPhil from the City University of Hong Kong, and PhD in Politics and Public Administration from The University of Hong Kong. He has taken visiting positions at the National University of Singapore, the City University of Hong Kong and the Asian Development Bank Institute. He is the author of Government and Policy-Making Reform in China: The Implications of Governing Capacity (NY and Oxon: Routledge, 2009). His publications have appeared in Communist and Post-Communist Studies, Journal of Contemporary China, and China Information.

CONTRIBUTORS

T.J. CHENG has recently retired from the Department of Sociology, University of Macau. He earned his BA in English language from Inner Mongolia Normal University; MA in World Economy and Politics from Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, and PhD of Sociology from SUNY. His research interest includes social transformation in rural society; household registration (hukou) system; ethnic minority; sociology of gambling; youth indicator system, and new immigrants in Macao. He has co-authored several books, including Macao Youth Indicator System, Chinese New Immigrants in Macao, Cultural Revolution in Inner Mongolia, and Introduction to Sociology of Gambling. He is also the author of over 100 journal and newspaper articles in Mainland China, USA, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Macao.

Jean-François DUPRÉ is a postgraduate research student in the Department of Politics and Public Administration, The University of Hong Kong. He holds an MSc in Nationalism Studies from the University of Edinburgh, and a BA in East Asian Studies and Comparative Politics from McGill University. He is currently undertaking a project on recent developments in the Taiwanization and language revival movement in Taiwan.

Edwin Pak-wah LEUNG is a Professor of Asian Studies and Chairman of the Department of Asian Studies at Seton Hall University in South Orange, New Jersey, USA. His areas of academic interests include Chinese politics and diplomacy as well as modern Asian history. He has published over twenty books and numerous academic articles written both in English and Chinese. As an internationally known scholar, he has affiliated with many world-class universities such as the University of California at Berkeley and Los Angeles, the University of Michigan, Princeton University, Columbia University, The University of Hong Kong, Peking University, Zhejiang University, and Wuhan University.

Professor Emeritus Colin MACKERRAS AO worked at Griffith University, Queensland, Australia, from 1974 until his retirement in 2004, and also taught on several occasions at the Beijing Foreign Studies University in China. He has authored and edited numerous books and written many articles on China's ethnic minorities, Chinese theatre, Western images of China, and Australia–China relations, including a focus on both historical and contemporary questions. His most important books on minorities are China's Minorities: Integration and Modernization in the Twentieth Century (Oxford University Press, Hong Kong, 1994) and China's Ethnic Minorities and Globalisation (RoutledgeCurzon, London and New York, 2003). In 2007, he was appointed an Officer in the Order of Australia for services to Asian studies and Australia–China relations.

SONG Weiqing is an Assistant Professor in Political Science at the Department of Government and Public Administration, Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities, the University of Macau, Macau. He attained a PhD in Political Science, with specialization in Comparative European Politics, at the University of Siena, Italy, in 2008. He teaches politics and international relations at the Department and has research interests in European politics, external aspects of the European Union, theory of European integration, global governance, and Chinese foreign relations, particularly with Europe. His publications have appeared in journals such as Policy and Politics, Asia-Europe Journal and Chinese Journal of European Studies.

Gudrun WACKER is, at present, a Senior Fellow in the Research Division Asia at the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (Stiftung Wissenschaft und Politik, SWP) in Berlin. She studied Sinology in Berlin, Tuebingen and Taipei. Her research focuses on Chinese foreign and security policy, especially EU–China relations, Sino–Russian and Sino–Central Asian relations; China in the Asia-Pacific region and the role of the United States; Chinese domestic development and minority policy.

YOU Ji is a Reader at the School of Social Science, the University of New South Wales. He is an author of three books and numerous articles. The most recent ones include: “Friends in Needs or Comrades in Arms: Dilemma in Sino–Russo Weapons Business,” in Andrew Tan (ed.), Global Arms Trade (Routledge, 2010); “The Soviet Military Model and the Breakdown of the Sino–USSR Alliance,” in Thomas Bernstein and Hua-yu Li (eds.), The Soviet Influence on China in the 1950s (Rowman & Littlefield, 2010); “Politics as the Foundation for Health Balance of Power,” Asia Policy, No. 8, 2009; “The 17th Party Congress and the CCP’s Changing Elite Politics,” in Dali Yang and Zhao Litao (eds.), China’s Reform at 30 (World Scientific, 2009).

ZHAO Hong is a Visiting Senior Research Fellow of the East Asian Institute (EAI), National University of Singapore. He obtained his Bachelor of Economics from the University of International Business and Economics, Master of Economics and PhD from Xiamen University, China. Before joining EAI, he was a professor of the Research School of Southeast Asian Studies, Xiamen University where he taught The International Political Economy. His latest publications include The Expansion of Outward FDI: A Comparative Study of China & India (2010); An Energy Comparison of the Asian Giants: China and India (2009); China and India: Competing for Good Relations with Myanmar (2008); China's Oil Venture in Africa (2007), and India and China: Rivals or Partners in Southeast Asia? (2007). His current research interests are focused on issues of China–ASEAN Economic Integration, China–India Energy Cooperation and East Asian Economic Community.

Quansheng ZHAO is a Professor of International Relations and Director of Center for Asian Studies at American University in Washington, DC. From 1993–2009, he was a Research Associate at the Fairbank Center for East Asian Research of Harvard University, and from 1999–2008, he was Division Director of Comparative and Regional Studies at American University. A specialist in international relations and comparative politics focusing on East Asia, Dr. Zhao is the author of Interpreting Chinese Foreign Policy (Oxford University Press, winner of the Best Academic Book Award by the Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Korea), and Japanese Policymaking (Oxford University Press/Praeger, selected as “Outstanding Academic Book” by Choice). His most recent edited book is Managing the China Challenge: Perspectives from the Globe (2009). His books have been translated into Chinese, Japanese, and Korean. He received his BA from Beijing University, and his MA and PhD from the University of California at Berkeley. He has also testified at the US Congress on China's high-speed railway system, and served as a consultant for the United Nations.