Acknowledgments

For their contribution I would like to thank everybody who helped me in writing this book with his or her professional, personal, technical or stylistic pieces of advice, remarks, sensible incomprehension or patience in tolerating the tension going together with writing. My first thanks are due to my wife, Éva Kovácsházy and my colleagues at the Department of Experimental Psychology of Eötvös Loránd University of Budapest: Sándor Illyés, Éva Bányai, István Czigler, Zoltán Vassy, Csilla Greguss, Péter Vágó, Róbert Horváth, Katalin Varga, Andrea Dúll, Irén Murányi, and Judit Bokor. My thanks are also due to Tibor Vámos, Ferenc Bródy, György Csaba, Éva Gartner, János Herczeg, János Pataki, Erika Kovács, István Fekete, Csaba Pléh, Ilona Barkóczi, János Geier, András Vargha, Anikó Kónya, András Joó, Csaba Andor, István Síklaki, Zsuzsa Votisky, László Vekerdi, and the students attending my university courses for their valuable comments and reflections. Special thanks must go to Ágnes Fraller for the hundreds of objective, factual, stylistic and sometimes vitriolic remarks, Anna C. Gösi-Greguss for her more than professional translation and Viktor Mészáros for his help in editing the English version.
