Over the past 20 years, social scientists, government officials, and investors have expressed mounting interest in the BRICS countries, which include Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa. These countries are widely viewed as both key actors in the global economy and important regional powers. The Political Economy of the BRICS Countries is a three-volume set that aims to address various crucial issues regarding these countries.

Readership: Academics, professionals and graduates interested in the political economy of the BRICS countries (Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa).

988pp
978-981-120-217-9 (Set)
Apr 2020
US$750, £660

Introductory Offer till Dec 31, 2020
US$625, £550

978-981-120-221-6 (ebook institutions)
US$1125, £990

Order Now https://doi.org/10.1142/11330

Reference works available on WorldSciNet
Volume 1
BRICS: The Quest for Inclusive Growth
Editors: Biju Paul Abraham (Indian Institute of Management Calcutta, India) & Partha Ray (Indian Institute of Management Calcutta, India)

Volume 1 analyzes whether economic growth in the BRICS countries has been broad-based and promoted equitable economic and social outcomes. The authors examine specific dimensions of growth in these five economies that constrain their ability to act effectively and cohesively in international affairs.

- Introduction
- BRICS: The Political Economy of Non-Inclusive Growth
  Biju Paul Abraham (Indian Institute of Management Calcutta, India)
- Future of BRICS as an Economic Block: Does Macroeconomic Heterogeneity and Unshared Political Mandate Stand in Its Way?
  Partha Ray (Indian Institute of Management Calcutta, India)
- China's and India's Economic Performance After the Financial Crisis: A Comparative Analysis
  R Nagaraj (Indira Gandhi Institute of Development Research, India)
- Inter-Group Disparities in Growing Economies: India Among the BRICS
  Achin Chakraborty (Institute of Development Studies Kolkata, India) & Simantini Mukhopadhyay (Institute of Development Studies Kolkata, India)
- Inequality and Poverty in India and Brazil Since the 1990s: A Comparative Analysis
  Sripad Motiram (University of Massachusetts, USA)
- Sustainable Development and BRICS: Unity Amidst Diversity?
  Anup Sinha (Heritage Business School, India)
- Universal Health Coverage in BRICS: What India Can Learn from the BRICS Experience?
  Indrani Gupta (Institute of Economic Growth, India) & Samik Chowdhury (Ambedkar University, New Delhi, India)
- Inclusive Finance: India through the BRICS Lens
  Saibal Ghosh (Qatar Central Bank, Qatar)

Volume 2
BRICS and the Global Economy
Editor: Soo Yeon Kim (National University of Singapore, Singapore)

Volume 2 considers how the BRICS have affected global economic governance and the international political economy.

- Introduction
- Part I Understanding the BRICS Phenomenon
  - Brazil as a BRICS Country
    Cristiane Lucena Carneiro (University of Sao Paulo, Brazil)
  - Russia in Global Economic Governance
    Thilo Bodenstein (Central European University, Hungary)
  - India and Global Governance
    Rajesh Kumar (National University of Singapore, Singapore)
  - China and Global Economic Governance
    Ka Zeng (University of Arkansas, USA)
  - South Africa, BRICS, and Global Governance: How SA Tried to Change the World and Succeeded in Changing Itself
    Philip Nel (University of Otago, New Zealand)
- Part II Regionalism and Foreign Aid
  - Emerging Economies — But Regional Powers? The BRICS and Regionalism
    Tanja A Börzel (Freie Universität Berlin, Germany) & Thomas Risse (Freie Universität Berlin, Germany)
  - BRICS and Foreign Aid
    Gerda Asmus (Heidelberg University, Germany), Andreas Fuchs (University of Goettingen, Germany) & Angelika Müller (Heidelberg University, Germany)
- Part III Investment and Finance
  - BRICS and the Global Investment Regime
    Yoram Z Haftel (The Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Israel)
  - Exchange Rate Policies of the BRICS
    Andrew X Li (Central European University, Hungary and Austria)
  - He Who Pays the Piper Calls the Tune: And the "Relocation of the World's Credit Rating Center" Goes To?
    Giulia Mennillo (National University of Singapore, Singapore)

More details @ https://doi.org/10.1142/11330
Volume 3
Political Economy of Informality in BRIC Countries

Editor: Santiago López-Cariboni
(Universidad Católica del Uruguay, Uruguay)

Volume 3 provides various approaches to economic informality in the BRICS. Moreover, the chapters deal with several connections between informality and important political, economic, and institutional phenomena such as economic globalization and international aid, economic development, political regimes, social capital, political networks and political participation, labor market rules, and social policy preferences.

Part I Tax Revenue, Globalization, and Informality in BRICS Countries

• A Comparative Analysis of Tax System in the BRICs and the Challenges Ahead: Informality and the Fiscal Contract
  Laura Seelkopf (Ludwig-Maximilians-University (LMU), Germany) & Armin von Schiller (Hertie School of Governance, Germany)

• Is Informal Work Eroding Compliance?
  Sarah Berens (University of Cologne, Germany) & Irene Menéndez (IE School of Global and Public Affairs, Madrid, Spain)

Part IV Climate Negotiations and Energy Governance

• BRICS in the International Climate Negotiations
  Axel Michaelowa (University of Zurich, Switzerland) & Katharina Michaelowa (University of Zurich, Switzerland)

• The BRICS, Energy Security, and Global Energy Governance
  Matteo Fumagalli (University of St Andrews, UK)

Part II Informal Settlements and Basic Service Provisions

• Social Capital, Leadership Accountability, and Public Services in the Slums of India
  Guadalupe Rojo (Duke University, USA & Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT), Argentina)

• Informal Electricity Consumption and Political Regimes: Implications for Political Change in BRIC Countries
  Santiago López-Cariboni (Universidad Católica del Uruguay, Uruguay)

Part III Labor Market Informality, Mobilization, and Preferences

• How the Labor Force is Mobilized: Patterns in Informality, Political Networks, and Political Linkages in Brazil
  Soledad Artiz Prillaman (University of Oxford, UK) & Jonathan Phillips (Harvard University, USA)

• Redistributive Preferences in Contemporary Brazil
  Luis Maldonado (Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile, Chile) & María Constanza Ayala (Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile, Chile)

• Understanding Informality in China: Institutional Causes and Subsequent Measurement Issues?
  Jujeong Yang (State University of New York College at Cortland, USA) & Wei-Ting Yen (Franklin and Marshall College, USA)

• Insiders, Outsiders, and the Politics of Employment Protection: Insights from the Brazilian Case
  Santiago López-Cariboni (Universidad Católica del Uruguay, Uruguay)

• Conclusions
  Santiago López-Cariboni (Universidad Católica del Uruguay, Uruguay)

ENRICH YOUR
LIBRARY’S COLLECTION

RECOMMEND THESE BOOKS TO YOUR LIBRARIAN.
About the Editors-in-Chief

Edward D. Mansfield is the Hum Rosen Professor of Political Science and Director of the Christopher H. Browne Center for International Politics at the University of Pennsylvania. His research focuses on international security and international political economy. He is the author of Power, Trade, and War (Princeton University Press, 1994); Electing to Fight: Why Emerging Democracies Go to War (with Jack Snyder) (MIT Press, 2005); Votes, Vetoes, and the Political Economy of International Trade Agreements (with Helen V. Milner) (Princeton University Press, 2012); and The Political Economy of International Trade (World Scientific, 2015). He is also the editor of 14 books and journal special issues, and has published articles in the American Political Science Review, British Journal of Political Science, Comparative Political Studies, International Organization, International Security, International Studies Quarterly, Journal of Conflict Resolution, World Politics, and various other journals and books. The recipient of the 2000 Karl W. Deutsch Award in International Relations and Peace Research, Mansfield has been a National Fellow at the Hoover Institution and his research has been supported by grants from the Harry Frank Guggenheim Foundation, the Mershon Center, and the United States Institute of Peace. He is the co-editor of the University of Michigan Press Series on International Political Economy and was the Vice President of the International Studies Association. He has been a Term Member of the Council on Foreign Relations, a member of the Graduate Record Examination Political Science Committee, Associate Editor of International Organization, and Program Co-Chair for the 2001 annual meeting of the American Political Science Association. Mansfield received his BA, MA, and PhD from the University of Pennsylvania; and before joining the faculty there, he taught at Columbia University and Ohio State University.

Biju Paul Abraham is currently a Professor of Public Policy at the Indian Institute of Management Calcutta. His primary teaching and research interests have been in the area of public systems and policy, particularly national and international regulation and its impact on investment and firms. He has also been part of consulting teams that have carried out strategic reviews of organizations and assessment of program implementation for various ministries of the Government of India as well as the Planning Commission. He was the co-editor of the book Good Governance, Democratic Societies and Globalization (2004) published by Sage and co-author of the book The Intelligent Person’s Guide to Good Governance (2009) also published by Sage. His articles have been published in both national and international journals such as Technovation, the International Journal of Electronic Business, and the Journal of Rural Development.

Partha Ray is currently a Professor of Economics at the Indian Institute of Management Calcutta, where he teaches Macroeconomics, Global Political Economy, and Issues in Monetary Policy. During 2007–2011, he was an Adviser to the Executive Director (India) at the International Monetary Fund, Washington, D.C. Earlier, he was working in the specialist cadre of Economists in Reserve Bank of India’s Economic Research Department during 1989–2006 in various capacities; his last position was as the Director, Department of Economic and Policy Research, RBI. During 1985–1989, he taught Economics in Calcutta. He has written extensively on issues relating to global financial crisis, global economy, monetary policy, banking, and finance. His recent publications include Macroeconomic Policies for Emerging and Developing Economies (with A. Vasudevan; Sage Publications, 2018), Financial and Fiscal Policies: Crises and New Reality (with Y. V. Reddy and Narayan Valluri; Oxford University Press, 2015), and Monetary Policy (Oxford University Press, 2013).

Soo Yeon Kim is an Associate Professor and the Head of Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore. She is a former Fellow of the Transatlantic Academy, based at the German Marshall Fund of the United States (Washington, DC), and of the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Princeton University. Soo Yeon Kim holds a Ph.D. in Political Science from Yale University and B.A. in Political Science and International Relations from Yonsei University. Her current research focuses on production networks, multinational firms, and the politics of free trade agreements in Asia; the politics of compliance in WTO disputes; and rising powers in the global economy. Soo Yeon Kim’s recent publications include “Global Value Chains and the Political Economy of WTO Disputes” (with Gabriele Spiller), The Review of International Organizations, 2019; “The Regime Complex for Investment Governance: Overlapping Provisions in PTAs and BITs” (with Clara Lee), in Manfred Elsig, Michael Hahn, and Gabriele Spiller, Eds., The Shifting Landscape of Global Trade Governance, (Cambridge University Press, forthcoming); and “Yin and Yank: Public Opinion in Europe Toward the United States and China” (with Sophie Menunier and Zsolt Nyiri), Comparative European Politics, 2016.

Santiago López-Cariboni is an Assistant Professor at the Universidad Católica del Uruguay. He writes on both comparative and international political economy. He received a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Essex in 2014. His primary research interests are in international and comparative political economy. His work focuses on the analysis of international trade and domestic policy in developing countries, labor informality and social policy, and informal access to basic services. His recent publications have appeared in the Review of International Organizations, Politics & Society, and Journal of Comparative Policy Analysis.